

Lawyer Insists On Bova Rescue

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—Drilling operations to recover the body of Louis Bova, trapped since Aug. 13 in a mine cave-in at nearby Shepton, were suspended Thursday, and an attorney for the missing man's family said he would petition a court to order continuation of the operation.

Rescue workers suspended the drilling when attempts failed to locate an alternate vein of coal through which it was hoped a slope might be sunk to reach Bova.

Rubright said that if the chancellor's decision is to end the recovery operation, the court would fix the date of Bova's death rather than wait the customary seven years to rule on the fate of a missing person.

The base commercial charge would go from $31 to $32, and the rate for a hydrant or sprinkler tap would be raised from $13.50 to $18 a year.

In addition, the company asked permission to bill bi-monthly instead of quarterly.

Cuba Blames U.S. For Bombing

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Cuban armed forces said Thursday night that unidentified aircraft bombed the city of Santa Clara, killing a householder, and claimed the United States was responsible.

A teacher was killed and his three children were injured by a bomb that hit their home, said the communique broadcast by Havana Radio and monitored in Miami.

"We hold the American government responsible and we warn it that repetition of these acts may result in serious incidents, because the Cuban government is not willing to tolerate the piratical acts against us," the communique said.

Roy Cohn Sees Revenge Motive

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy M. Cohn, once right-hand man to the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, pleaded innocent Thursday to charges in a stock fraud case.

A hearing was set for next week by U.S. District Judge J. Edgar Hoover to hear all aspects of the attorney for designation of one case.

Cohn said the charges were trumped up and motivated by political revenge.

He accused U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau of "an attempt to pander to the long-standing prejudice of his superiors."

She was charged with perjury—lying—at the trial of one of her discarded lovers—Jamaican jazz singer Aloysius "Lucky" Gordon.

The 21-year-old brunette, whose affair with ex-War Minister John Profumo shook the British government, was accused with two other women of conspiring to subvert the course of justice at the Gordon trial.

Schoolmen Rebuke Wallace

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — School officials refused Thursday to bow to Gov. George Wallace and delay integration of four schools in this north Alabama city.

This defiant action was followed quickly by a City Council resolution asking the segregationist governor to keep out of the Huntsville school issue.

In a special meeting Thursday night, the council voted to ask Wallace not to interfere with the opening of schools Friday on an integrated basis.

A telegram was sent to Wallace but he had no immediate response.

School board members earlier refused to postpone school opening as requested by Wallace who rushed state troopers into Huntsville, where four Negroes are to attend white schools Friday and to Mobile, where two Negroes may begin integrated classes.

Huntsville officials followed the lead of Tuskegee and Birmingham in asking Wallace to keep out.

In Birmingham, where Wallace talked school officials into shutting down three schools facing integration, Negro attorney asked a federal judge to order the schools reopened.

Board Rejects Governor

Huntsville's school superintendent, Dr. Raymond Christian, said the governor's representatives asked the board to delay the fall term again until next Monday. The board already had postponed it from last Monday.

Another school board, at Tuskegee, disregarded an executive order from the governor last Monday and refused to postpone the fall term for one week. Wallace put state troopers into the city and physically kept students from entering the building.

In Birmingham, Negro attorneys asked a federal court to force the Board of Education to reopen the three schools closed earlier Friday in the face of scheduled desegregation.

They also asked an injunction against Gov. George Wallace to stop him and other state officials from interfering with operation of any schools ordered integrated.

A hearing was scheduled for Friday.

The schools were closed to avert integration Thursday at Wallace's request after racial violence left one man dead and a score injured.

Goldwater Ties Treaty To Red Troops In Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., ignited sharp debate in the Senate Thursday by launching a move to delay the effectiveness of the limited nuclear test ban treaty until the Soviet Union removes all its military forces from Cuba.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told Goldwater that such a formal reservation would "require negotiation not only with the Soviet Union but with over 80 other nations."

The assistant Democratic leader, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, denounced Goldwater's move as "partisan mischief." He said that "it would wreck the nuclear test-ban treaty and would result in a staggering setback for the United States internationally."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said Goldwater's reservation would "open up all questions involved in the cold war" rather than let the Senate act on a treaty on which the Russians and the United States agree.

Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., told

Goldwater the stipulation about Cuba should have been made when the treaty was under negotiation. Saying the administration had "dropped the ball" at Moscow, Allott said, "We have passed up the strategic time to have insisted on the withdrawal of troops from Cuba."

Formal debate on the treaty is scheduled to begin Monday.

Goldwater, a front-runner for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, had urged in an Aug. 27 speech that getting the Russians out of Cuba and tearing down the Berlin wall be made the price of U.S. ratification of the treaty. He listed Thursday several "reservations" and "clarifications" he plans to propose, but the Berlin wall leveling was not among them.

The Arizona senator laid special stress on his proposed reservation dealing with Cuba and said he would fight for it. He said in essence the reservation would say "that the effectiveness of the U.S.S.R. has removed all nuclear weapons, all weapons capable of carrying nuclear warheads, and all military-technical personnel from Cuba and until arrangements have been made for international inspection within Cuba to determine and confirm such removal."

While Goldwater was praised for his desire to get the Russians out of Cuba, his proposed reservations drew no immediate support from his colleagues.

"Of course, it would be a wonderful thing to get the Russians out of Cuba," Mansfield said. "But I can think of no more unsatisfactory way of doing it."

The Democratic leader said the reservation would not get the Russians out of Cuba. But it would, he declared, "assure the continuance of the assault of nuclear testing on the health of the families of the United States" and "the total anarchy which now prevails in the elusive search for security through unrestricted bomb testing."

Training, Highway Projects Urged For State Jobs

By FRED WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton's Council of Business and Industry submitted to the governor Thursday its recommendations for creating new employment opportunities in Pennsylvania.

It stressed training of youth and retraining of adults, a multi-million-dollar highway building program, increased aid to industrial development and improved attitudes by all segments of Pennsylvania society.

"This is a group of men to whom I, personally, and the whole Commonwealth should be grateful for the tremendous job they are doing for us," Scranton said at his weekly news conference.

Most of the 21 members of the council were present for the formal release of the report at the conference, the first regular session with newsmen since the governor returned from his late summer vacation.

They stood in the background, in group portrait fashion, while newsmen questioned both the governor, Council Chairman Fred C. Foy, and individual council members about the lengthy report.

"The whole thing (report) will be thoroughly appraised," Scranton said, "not only by the Department of Commerce but other departments of state government."

He indicated basic agreement with the extensive recommendations.

However, he reserved judgment on the council's endorsement of the proposed Pennsylvania Railroad-New York Central Railroad merger.

The preceding administration of Democrat David L. Lawrence had gone on record opposing the merger.

A statistical analysis started by the University of Pittsburgh before Lawrence left office and recently completed also came up with a conclusion the merger would affect the state adversely.

"We have not come up with a formalized opinion," Scranton said. "This will be one of the first things on the agenda now that I am returned from vacation and you can expect an opinion to be forthcoming shortly."

He guessed the opinion would be made public about the middle of this month.

In its recommendations, the council sidestepped fiscal recommendations and constitutional revision.

"We came to the conclusion that we really should not do so (make fiscal recommendations)," explained Foy, chairman of the board of Koppers Co., Inc., Pittsburgh.

The response was to a newsman's question about the council's recommendation that "steps be taken" to remove tolls on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The turnpike owes its bondholders about $300 million.

On the possible advantages to business of revising the 89-year-old State Constitution, Foy said: "We thought this was much more a matter of state administration and we didn't feel we should inject ourselves into the picture."

Many of the recommendations already have been enacted into law during the 1963 legislative session or by executive order.

One of its recommendations in the general area of improving the business climate was improvements to the unemployment compensation law, a subject the recent legislature put off for a special session later this year.

The council offered itself for further service to the Administration, including willingness to provide counsel but not formal recommendations on fiscal problems.

Scranton, in turn, envisioned a long career for the council, speaking of possible service in future years and future administrations.

Business Views

While conceding that its report reflected views only of the business community, the council also said:

"We firmly believe that nothing short of a total commitment by all facets and segments of Pennsylvania toward the common objective of development of our state to its fullest potential will do it for us to achieve success."

These are the highlights of recommendations in the major areas outlined:

Recommendations

Labor Force—A combined state-business survey to determine long-range job skill needs and base training and retraining programs on the findings; guide young people to seek higher education of training in skills that will be needed; provide retraining programs for unemployed adults with the costs to be shared in thirds by the state, local community and the trainee. The share of trainees unable to be paid would be charged against public assistance.

Advance Scientific and Technological Resources—Establishment of one or more private profit-making advanced technology corporations to create a new kind of industrial growth within Pennsylvania. Develop plans to increase scientific and engineering graduates and research work in state universities and colleges with financial support from business and industry.

Kennedy Plans To Visit Pinchot Site In Milford

Historic Estate 'Conservation Tour' To Start In Pike

MILFORD, Pa. (AP)—The old home of the Pennsylvania Pinchots, which President Kennedy visits on Sept. 25, soon will become not only a national historic site but an educational center dedicated to conservation.

Few men have been so closely identified with that cause as was Gifford Pinchot, a former governor of this state and head of the U.S. forest service under Theodore Roosevelt, with whom the preservation of natural resources was a passion.

The estate was sold to the government some time ago by Dr. Gifford Pinchot, a son of the former governor, and other heirs.

In the days to come Grey Towers and the new Pinchot Institute for Conservation Study will be a headquarters for chosen forestry specialists and a clearing house for information on conservation.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy plans to start out his 10-state "conservation tour" at the end of this month with a visit to the former home of a pioneer conservationist, Gifford Pinchot.

Pinchot, a Republican who died in 1946, first won attention as head of the U.S. forest service during the administration of Theodore Roosevelt, one of the most conservation-minded presidents and also a Republican.

Pinchot, whose home was at Milford in northeastern Pennsylvania, later went on to become governor of Pennsylvania for two terms.

His home, which Kennedy plans to visit briefly, soon will become a national historic site.

Most of the stops on the President's Sept. 25-29 trip will be to inspect conservation and resource development projects, but he also plans to visit such places as San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Portland, Ore., and Duluth, Minn.

Details have not been announced but it was learned on Thursday that this tentative itinerary has been worked out.

After the visit to Pennsylvania, Kennedy will fly to Duluth to speak at an Agriculture Department conference on land and people. Then he will go to North Dakota to see the Garrison diversion project on the Missouri River and to speak in Fargo, Grand Forks or Minot.

Later on Sept. 25, plans call for him to fly to Jackson Hole, Wyo., near Yellowstone and Grand Teton national parks, to spend the night.

President Names Rail Arbitrators

WASHINGTON (AP) — A professional arbitrator and two university faculty members with wide arbitrating experience were named Thursday to the special board which will rule on the railroad work-rules dispute.

President Kennedy appointed Ralph T. Seward of Washington chairman of the seven-member panel authorized under legislation passed by Congress to avert a nationwide strike.

Named with Seward as public members were James J. Healy of Harvard and Benjamin Aaron of the University of California at Los Angeles.

The President completed the board's makeup after the other four members were unable to agree on the public representatives.

The railroads are represented by J.E. Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference, and Guy W. Knight, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The union representatives are H.E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers (AFL-CIO), and R.H. McDonald, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (AFL-CIO).

There was no immediate indication when the board will hold its first meeting.

Binding Decision

The board is charged with handing down binding decisions on the two principal issues in the four-year-old work-rules dispute. These are the question of what happens to the jobs of about 32,000 firemen now employed on freight trains and yard engines and the makeup of train crews.

The board must begin hearings within 30 days and issue its decision within 90 days. The arbitration award will be effective 60 days after it is filed and remain in effect for two years.

Ngo Dinh Diem Says He's Still Boss

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, told newsmen in separate interviews Thursday that Diem is the boss.

Both the 62-year-old chief executive and his brother, the secret police chief whose petite wife is the president's official hostess, denied Nhu controlled the government.

Both expressed hope for a quick return to normalcy from South Viet Nam's political-religious crisis. Both forecast an improvement in the strained relations between Viet Nam and the United States, its ally in a war against Communist guerrillas.

Diem said in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press: "I make decisions and before history I, not my advisers, must accept the responsibilities for the decisions."

Nhu, 52, who is counselor to the president and sometimes considered the more powerful of the two, echoed Diem's views and presented some of his own in a later interview with 10 foreign correspondents.

Among other things Nhu said U.S. servicemen directly backing up Vietnamese units in the jungle battlefields may be pulled back to training and logistical support "on a progressive basis, starting now, because of a considerable improvement in the situation."

At about the same time, the U.S. State Department announced in Washington that curbs have been put on official U.S. travel to South Viet Nam because of "the unsettled situation." It suggested that American tourists hold off visits, too.

While Diem and Nhu said they regard the Buddhist-student affair as closed, students opposing the government have gone underground with typewriters and mimeograph machines since the crushing of their street demonstrations Aug. 26.

The interviews of the President and his brother were similar in topics and in responses. Both were held in the Presidential Palace.

Chester C. Pike, executive vice president of the local, said the dispute centers over scheduled work on the roof at the Samuel Rae shop. The TWU local has some 6,000 members.

Pike said Local 2017 employees were originally scheduled to perform the work but workers from Philadelphia were now scheduled to do the job.

Walker Attempts To Take Life

SELINSGROVE, Pa. (AP) — Alvin C. Walker, 65-year-old director of the State Bureau of Motor Vehicles, was hospitalized after an unsuccessful attempt to take his own life, state police reported yesterday.

In Harrisburg, Revenue Secretary Theodore B. Smith said Walker had been on sick leave since Aug. 15. At that time, Smith said, Walker felt the recurrence of a nervous condition coming on. He had been ill previously in 1955.

"On Aug. 26," Smith continued, "a member of Mr. Walker's family verbally informed the department that Mr. Walker would submit his resignation to be effective Sept. 5. This resignation has not been received by the department."

"Mr. Walker's sick leave will expire Sept. 5, and at that time he will, under employment rules of the commonwealth, be placed on leave without pay."

Investigators reported that Mrs. Walker found her husband in the garage at the next-door home of a brother, Clarence Walker, in Beavertown. He had taken his brother's own gun and shot himself above the right eye, police said. Mrs. Walker found him about 5 p. m. Monday.

Mirrors May Protect Deer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since deer can't read, Rep. Sherman P. Lloyd, R-Utah, proposed putting up mirrors along the highways to help save their lives.

roads in wooded areas, Lloyd said, would reflect headlights into the adjacent woods. Since the lights attract deer at night, he said, they would be drawn to the mirrors, rather than to the speeding automobiles.

This device, he said, probably would be more effective than the "Deer Crossing" signs now posted along the highways.

"Deer, even of the Utah variety, are notably poor readers and the signs probably have as little effect on them as they do on the motorists," Lloyd said.

Woolworth Purchases Kinney Shoes

NEW YORK — The F. W. Woolworth Co. has completed its purchase of the G. R. Kinney Corp., from the Brown Shoe Co.

Robert C. Kirkwood, president of Woolworth, said the acquisition, first announced on June 3 was for $39,000,000 in cash. Kinney retails and manufactures shoes.

The transaction also provides for Woolworth to make provisions for assuming and refinancing $6,000,000 in Kinney debentures held by Brown.

The purchase satisfied a 1962 decision of the U. S. Supreme Court, directing Brown to dispose of Kinney. The court ruled Brown's acquisition of Kinney in 1955 violated anti-trust laws.

Effort Man Injured In Accident

EAST STROUDSBURG — Lester Oliver of Effort was released from Monroe County General Hospital after treatment for face cuts and other cuts and bruises sustained in a one-car accident about 9:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Oliver's car struck a culvert on Route 715, a mile and a half west of Tannersville.

State Police at Mt. Pocono said the car went off the road on a curve, entered a wooded area, returned to the highway, went off again and hit the culvert.

Our New Highway

A long and distinguished list of political leaders, highway builders and administrators, businessmen and interested citizens is invading Monroe County today to dedicate a new section of Interstate Rt. 80 (Keystone Shortway).

It is not just a shortcut up the mountain to Mt. Pocono. It does not just add a safe, wide, beautiful four-lane separated highway for a dangerous, narrow, ugly three-lane section of Rt. 611.

It is not just a few more millions of dollars poured into cement.

The Keystone Shortway is a major national highway, which when completed will carry traffic from the George Washington Bridge across New Jersey to the Delaware Water Gap, through Pennsylvania to the Ohio Turnpike at Sharon, Pa.

On a county level, it will be the major connecting link between the Stroudsburgs and the mountain resort areas. It will speed tourists and visitors to their destinations without leaving a scar of unpleasant driving memories about the Poconos.

It is a vital economic link for the county alone, for the State of Pennsylvania, and for the nation.

We thank the men who are here today to dedicate this highway for their efforts in making the Keystone Shortway dream come true. And we urge them to speed progress on the highway in other unfinished sections across Pennsylvania and in New Jersey where the vital link to New York City is moving more slowly.

Recreation Area Planning

Although the National Recreation Area around the Tocks Island Dam and reservoir has not been authorized by the Congress, the National Park Service which will supervise the area is already making careful plans for recreation development.

On Page 8 of today's newspaper, you will find another report completed for the National Park Service. A map shows the ten major sites to be developed for swimming, boating, hiking and horseback riding trails, picnicing, camping and just looking at the beautiful view of the lake and Pocono Mountains.

The natural science survey of 72,000 acres along the Delaware from the Delaware Water Gap to Port Jervis just completed by Lehigh University will assist park site planning and will be the scientific basis for publications explaining the fish, wildlife, flora and fauna of the area to visitors.

Lehigh University's Institute of Research is now starting a second similar report for the National Park Service.

The second report will be an historical survey of the area to be inundated and the area which will surround the 35-mile lake from the dam above Stroudsburg to Port Jervis.

The historical survey will be used to identify important historical sites which will remain above water and to help preserve them for the visiting public.

It is heartening for naturalists who love this beautiful Delaware valley and for historians who appreciate the amount of early American history still alive in the woods and fields and houses along the river to see that the National Park Service is taking care to preserve and protect things of beauty and value.

The National Park Service does not intend to let the water rise, put up fences and let nature and man take their courses. The areas are apparently being planned with an eye to natural and historical interest, as well as pure recreation.

Not only the estimated 7 million annual visitors to the area but also the present residents of this region will benefit by such careful planning and such worthwhile goals.

Comment Of The Day

"Almost all of the major health problems of school-aged children are more social than physical. Dr. Samuel M. Wishik of the University of Pittsburgh lists pregnancy, smoking, overweight, accidents and dental caries as the five most serious health problems among Pennsylvania's youth.

"He adds that alcoholism is a growing teenage problem."

Touching The Bases

WASHINGTON — When I entered the Senate dining room the other noon the table nearest the door was occupied by two gentlemen, one hiding behind a vast mustache and billowing pipe, the other behind an expression of bland innocence.

The mustachioed one I recognized as Victor Johnston, director of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, long identified in my mind — if not in his — as an exponent of the conservative right. Mr. Johnston introduced his luncheon companion from behind his pipe. It sounded like:

"This is Mr. NIM-NIM."

I squatted, and asked Mr. Johnston what was new in hide-bound GOP circles. He shrugged. I looked at the other fellow for possible comment, and when none was forthcoming, I said:

"I'm sorry, I didn't get your name."

"Himman," he said.

I apologized to George Himman, New York Republican National Committeeman and leader of the Rockefeller-for-President forces. I also apologized for butting in, saying:

"This must be pretty close to a summit meeting. Are you trying to talk Mr. Johnston's committee into supporting the Governor of New York?"

"No," replied Mr. Himman, "I am just here to touch a few bases."

"Every political leader I have ever met anywhere tells me he is just touching a few bases," I said. "How many bases do you estimate you have touched?"

"Thousands," replied Mr. Himman.

"Do you," I persisted, "consider Mr. Johnston here a base?"

"What do you mean?" asked the Rockefeller major domo.

"I mean are you here to touch him?"

Mr. Himman vouchsafed no reply to this. Mr. Johnston's pipe had gone out. He re-lit it into acrid smog. I inquired:

"What are you smoking in that — old Kennedy non-partisan attacks?"

"This produced nothing in the way of informative discourse either, so I asked Mr. Himman if he proposed to go on touching bases this autumn and winter."

"Why not?" he temporized.

"Because," I replied, "it will soon be the football season, and then the hockey season. You are going to look rather silly touching bases in the hot stove league. Why don't you take a leaf from Fred Merkle?"

"Mr. Merkle," I recounted, "proud of the opportunity to show off, 'was first baseman of the New York Giants. He became more famous for not touching a base than you can ever hope to become by touching one. Would you care to hear more?"

"No," quibbled Mr. Himman.

"In 1908," I continued, "the Giants were tied with the Chicago Cubs for the National League pennant. It was the ninth inning of the last game of the season. The score was tied, with two out."

"I really should get out and touch a few bases," said Mr. Himman.

"Wait till you hear about Merkle not touching one. Merkle was on first; Moose McCormick on second. Al Bridwell hit a single, and McCormick crossed home plate with the winning run. Merkle thought the game was over and cut across the field without touching second. He was declared the third out, nullifying McCormick's run. The game was played over, and the Cubs won the pennant 4 to 2."

"If you are going out to touch a few bases," Mr. Johnston told Mr. Himman, "I will go with you. If there is anything I abhor more it is listening to old baseball stories."

"All right," I said, throwing up my hands, and catching them again on the fly, "you go out and touch bases. But don't blame me if you don't go down to posterity like Fred Merkle."

'A House Divided Against Itself Cannot Stand—'

The Pennsylvania Story

HARRISBURG — Reporter's Notebook:

With somewhat surprising agility (other words describe it too) Pennsylvania's Capitol Hill this week began to assume a degree of "normalcy" for the first time since the Scranton Administration took title to the oaks and elms in Capitol Park back in January.

What constitutes "normalcy" here on Capitol Hill? . . . That too of course can be answered with considerable variety — but the point we are making is that (a) there is no legislation in session as existed from January to early August, (b) the early-flurry of personnel change that marks every new administration has come and gone, (c) delayed vacations due to the continued presence of the Legislature have now largely been completed, and (d) Labor Day week end has passed.

Even Governor Scranton this week returned to his den atop Capitol Hill following a somewhat extended post-legislative session in the wilds of the Adirondacks. . . . Members of the gubernatorial secretariat too have dusted off their chairs, along with the great white chief — all of which now sets the stage for the routine winter modus operandi!

Dutiful Pen-Wielder — It is perhaps interesting to note in passing that by the time the deadline arrived over the past

Labor Day week end for the Governor to sign legislation (he has thirty days following final adjournment), Mr. Scranton signed his signature this session — since 1874 only five bills have been approved over a gubernatorial veto, the most "recent" being in 1917. . . . It requires a two-thirds vote to override a veto, rather than the conventional constitutional majority. . . . (The 1963 session couldn't have overridden a veto if it had wanted to—it had already adjourned!)

Under such circumstances legislation cleared by the House and Senate and sent to the gubernatorial desk is just as much a new law as though it had actually been signed. . . . This type of "de facto" final enactment has been used by chief executives in past in cases where legislation has been particularly distasteful (but necessary) to the chief executive and neither he nor his party want the taint of it being said: "You signed it, bud!"

Interestingly, under the present State Constitution of 1874 fifty-six bills have become law in this manner — without the signature of the Governor. . . . Of more contemporary note, Governor Pinchot allowed three bills to become law in this manner in 1931, and in 1957 Governor Leader allowed one bill to become law without his signature.

Incidentally, speaking of the 21 vetoes to which Mr. Scranton penned his signature this session — since 1874 only five bills have been approved over a gubernatorial veto, the most "recent" being in 1917. . . . It requires a two-thirds vote to override a veto, rather than the conventional constitutional majority. . . . (The 1963 session couldn't have overridden a veto if it had wanted to—it had already adjourned!)

Even State Mines Department officials (headed by Mines Secretary H. Beecher Charnbury) there has been nothing but boundless praise for the tireless and unstinting efforts of round-the-clock volunteer rescue-workers and donors of machinery, equipment, gear, food and services. . . . The rescue operation unquestionably will go down as a classic in ungrudging expenditure of human effort and virtually countless expenditure of millions of dollars — for two men, one whom had the gall to be critical which in itself is almost more fantastic than the rescue operation!

Beautiful! Breath-taking! Magnificent!

These adjectives only scrape the surface in describing the "Pocono Run" from Delaware Water Gap's toll bridge to Scotrun.

The section of Rt. 80 which was recently opened for traffic blends well with the part that we know as the Stroudsburgs Thruway. Actually and officially all are under the banner of the Keystone Shortway.

Today Gov. William W. Scranton will travel the terrain which spells out the Pocono Mountains better than four lanes can ever say. The four-lane masterpiece of construction splits the beauty of the hills, dales and valleys into two picturesque photos that will give the Poconos its best bit of publicity since Rip Van Winkle left these parts to go to sleep in New York state.

Poconos' Best Publicity

Yesterday we had a sneak preview of the highway. Naturally there were some eyes along the route. But they were obliterated by the countryside as we cut our way from the Gap to Scotrun.

The turnoffs and interchanges puzzled us for a spell. However after a brief orientation we renewed our friendship with the spots familiar to all year-around residents.

The Keystone Shortway certainly has added stature to the Poconos. Not only do we now get a closer look at our "Madonna" but the Shortway also provides an easier route for outsiders to come and go as they please.

We can't wait for the proposed trip from the George Washington Bridge to the Golden Gate in San Francisco — an education in travel over a much-shortened 3,000 miles.

If you get the opportunity to take a scenic drive over the new section of Rt. 80, do it. Better still, take the journey from the Gap toll span to Scotrun. Believe me, you won't be sorry.

Try and Stop Me

Mrs. Gumbiner came back from her canasta party and asked the baby sitter, "Did you bathe the children as I instructed you to?" "Yes, ma'am," said the baby sitter, "and they behaved like lambs about it — all except the biggest boy. He fought like blazes before I could get him undressed and into the tub."

"What do you mean, biggest boy?" inquired Mrs. Gumbiner. "We have only one son. Which biggest boy?" "The one with a bald spot and eyeglasses," said the baby sitter. "Good heavens," gasped Mrs. Gumbiner, "that's my husband!"

The Allen-Scott Report

Student Oversight

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — Those beatnik-type U.S. students who lollydoped around Cuba as guests of its Communist rulers somehow seem to have overlooked a number of glaring realities.

In striking contrast to their parroted propaganda about the joys and achievements of the Red regime are the following grim and indisputable facts:

After four years of despotic Communist rule, Cuba is winding up with a sugar crop considerably less than even the officially admitted record low output. Instead of the claimed 3,883,000 tons, the actual total is around 2.9 million tons.

That is less than half the 6 million-plus tons average between 1957 and the Reds' domination; and more than 1.5 million tons less than last year's crop, which was one million tons under the previous year. Even on the basis of patently exaggerated official figures, the record shows an unbroken decline in sugar production since the Communists have been in control.

The same is true of every other important Cuban export commodity.

Tobacco, second after sugar, which brought Cuba around $58 million a year prior to Castro, is now netting less than half that.

Similarly, citrus production is at a record low. Although Cuba is a tropical island, oranges are so scarce that a doctor's prescription and the approval of the local Committee of Defense are necessary to buy five at a high price.

The once-flourishing mining industry is in an equally sad state. Nickel production is less than 40 per cent at the huge Nicaro plant, built at a cost of $100 million by the U.S. government and confiscated by Castro. The record is even worse at the Moa Bay Mining Company, with nickel and cobalt production running at less than 20 per cent. At Minas de Matahambre, Cuba's largest copper mine, output is virtually at a standstill owing to sabotage, mismanagement and neglect.

Communist Boomerang — The meager sugar crop, smallest in some 25 years, is stark tragedy for the 6 million Cubans, and a serious blow to Russia and its European satellites.

For the Cuban people living under iron-fisted Red domination, the record low sugar crop is an economical disaster. It means even more hardships and privations than they already are experiencing: less food, clothing, medicines, transportation and other essentials, coupled with more rationing and tougher and more ruthless controls.

For the Soviet bloc, the sugar debacle means greater burdens keeping Cuba economically afloat.

Russia and its satellites are pouring more than $1 million a day in economic aid alone into Cuba. Without these vital supplies, Castro and his Red masters would collapse in a matter of weeks. The whole economy of Cuba would come to a literal standstill.

Without Soviet-supplied oil, every wheel in Cuban industry, transport and other mechanical equipment would grind to a halt within a few days. Oil is the only source of power in Cuba, and Russia is its principal source of supply. "Che" Guevara, hardcore Communist economic czar, has publicly admitted there are no oil or gasoline reserves, and that Cuba is completely dependent on the Soviet for this indispensable commodity.

Graphically illustrative of how dependent Cuba is on Russia, and the heavy cost of the aid to the latter are the following: 13 per cent of all crude oil exported by Russia goes to Cuba. 40 per cent of all Russia's flour exports go to Cuba.

50 per cent of all Russia's condensed milk exports go to Cuba. 87 per cent of Russia's meat exports go to Cuba.

Much of Czechoslovakia's economic difficulties are due to large-scale shipments of machinery and other supplies to Cuba.

Rumania's recent backslide rowing with the Kremlin is directly the result of economic strains brought on by heavy exports to Cuba—virtually all on the cuff, as in the case of Czechoslovakia and Russia, too.

That's why the record low sugar crop of around 2.9 million tons is a severe setback to them. Their barter deals with Cuba are based on a 4.8 million-ton crop.

Last year, because production fell below that level, various credits and other Red aid agreements had to be renegotiated. Obviously, that will again have to be done this year—or something.

Pointing The Way—This dire economic mess holds one weighty answer on what could be done about Communist satellite Cuba.

This is tightening every possible screw on supplies there.

Every measure could be taken to prevent shipments reaching there, and to make exorbitant those that do get there.

Communist Cuba is being kept economically alive chiefly because of Western shipping. More Western tankers and freighters delivered vital supplies to Cuba last month than Soviet bloc ships. Most of these Western vessels fly the flags of U.S. allies and foreign aid beneficiaries.

For example, Britain and Greece tally with 49 ships each. The U.S. has poured billions in economic and military aid into both countries. Even today, Greece gets a lot of such assistance.

Yet tankers and freighters flying the Greek flag are almost daily bringing oil, food and other crucial supplies to Communist-controlled Cuba.

President Kennedy should be able to arrive at some effective answer to this. He is angrily demanding that Congress restore the deep slashes in his foreign aid budget. With the same aroused insistence he could also demand that allies and aid beneficiaries cease giving comfort and succor to a hostile Red puppet regime 90 miles off our shores!

Carrier Asks Financial Aid To Begin Local Bus Service

EAST STROUDSBURG — The Delaware Valley Transportation Co. Inc. is willing to start bus service between Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg, but it wants financial help from the business community.

Paul Hull, general manager of the bus company, said last night, "We're willing to try it if we can find some way to subsidize the expenses."

He said the company believes the service probably could not pay for itself at first but is willing to run an inter-borough bus service for six months or a year on a trial basis.

He was speaking at a special meeting of local government, service club and business representatives at the East Stroudsburg municipal building.

Officials Review Change In Course Of Pocono Creek

STROUDSBURG—Monroe County commissioners and Edwin J. Greenwald, district location engineer, district five, Department of Highways in Allentown, yesterday reviewed the course of Pocono Creek at a point on Tanite Rd. across from Rt. 80.

Following a review on the bank of the creek, the men returned to the commissioner's office and decided the blue prints of the section of Rt. 80 in that area.

Greenwald said, "The blueprints show that the fill on the east side of the creek does not come quite to the bank of the stream. This we saw at the creek."

"The channel of the creek, in what was the CLU Park, has been changed. This we saw at the creek

Ask Firm Proposal

Hull was asked to bring a firm proposal to another meeting next Thursday night. He said he would prepare estimates of the cost of such bus service, proposed routes and hourly schedules.

The meeting was called after pressure mounted for bus service cheaper than taxi service between the two boroughs. Hull and "The People Speak" program of Radio Station WVPO received many calls from taxi riders protesting a recent local taxi rate increase.

Both borough councils sent delegates to the meeting.

Present were Kenneth Wiley, East Stroudsburg borough councilman; Steven Sackley, Stroudsburg borough councilman; Chester S. Miller, Kiwanis club president and manager of WVPO; John C. Mullins of the Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn.; and Hull.

Also Joseph A. Lisicky, vice president and comptroller of the First Stroudsburg National Bank and chairman of the Lions Club civic improvement committee; and Jim Ottaway Jr., editor of The Daily Record and representative of the Rotary Club.

Route Suggested

Hull suggested that the bus route might follow that of a similar bus service which died three years ago when the same bus company was owned by Leslie Drake.

That route started in Stroudsburg in Pocono Park, went down Bridge St. to Rt. 611 (North Ninth St.), then to Main St. and down Main St. to Fifth St., then on Fifth St. (Rt. 191) to Stokes Mill Rd., to Rt. 196, Eagle Valley, and down North Courtland St. into East Stroudsburg and back over the interborough bridge to Stroudsburg.

Hull said the bus company has buses available from its fleet of 83 buses. The company plans to charge 20 cents for any ride on the established route. It would use 40-passenger buses with luggage racks for shopping bags.

Miller suggested a pass of $1 or $2 which could be used by the same person for many rides within one week. Hull said it sounded like a good idea.

Hull said the buses might try to get business from employees at major plants in the area like Ronson, Hughes Printing Co., Material, and Patterson-Kelley. "A lot of their employees beg, borrow and steal rides every day and from work," Hull said.

Lisicky and Mullins said they thought a lot of people who work downtown in both boroughs would prefer taking a bus to work rather than driving to work and searching for parking space or renting parking space.

Fire Destroys Building On Franklin Hill

MARSHALLS CREEK — Marshalls Creek Fire Co. was called yesterday at 7 a.m. to extinguish a building fire on Franklin Hill near East Stroudsburg Borough line.

A spokesman for the company said the call was placed by an unknown person who told firemen that he could see a building on fire from where he lived.

The building was located about 200 yards off the Franklin Hill road and across the highway from the home of Arthur Decker.

The spokesman for the company said the building, a one story frame construction with three rooms, was a total loss. He added that firemen were unable to determine the cause of the fire but that all evidence indicated that it started in a back room of the building.

The building was not occupied at the time of the fire but firemen were told someone by the name of Coco lived there. Firemen were unable to determine the person's first name nor were they able to learn immediately the owner of the property.

The investigation will continue today.

Lewis Attacks Bar Assn. Proposal On Judgeships

Lewis, East Stroudsburg attorney, told the Stroudsburg Rotary Club yesterday that a proposal for appointment instead of election of local judges and justices of the peace violates fundamental constitutional principles of separation of powers.

He criticized the Pennsylvania Bar Assn. proposal, made by former State Attorney General William A. Schnader, which would have judges selected by nominating commissions and appointed by the governor.

He said the governor's choice would be the determining factor in the decisions reached by the nominating commissions.

He emphasized the fact that "community courts" would replace justices of the peace courts, thus limiting the local citizens prerogative of choice.

Lewis said Schnader is the principal proponent of constitutional revision.

Schnader's proposal, as printed in his speech on the bar association proposals for constitutional revision, entitled "Highlights of the Twelve Resolutions," says in part:

"All new judges of the Supreme or Superior Courts and of the district and community courts in Allegheny and Philadelphia Counties would start their judicial service by appointment of the governor, or under limited circumstances, of the chief justice. However, neither the governor nor the chief justice could make appointments except from lists of three submitted by judicial nominating commissions."

"While the method of selecting judges here described would originally apply only to the courts named in the preceding paragraph, other districts would have the right by vote of the people of their district to adopt the method."

"There would be one judicial nominating commission for statewide judges — those of the Supreme and Superior Courts. There would also be a judicial nominating commission for each judicial district which had adopted this plan. These latter commissions would nominate candidates for both the district and the community courts."

"Each nominating commission would consist of seven persons. One would be a judge, three would be lawyers selected by the lawyers of the district or of the state at large, as the case might be, and three would be citizens — not lawyers — appointed by the governor."

Always look for these factors in any Memorial—Best Material—Design—Workmanship.

Stroudsburg Granite Co.
Truman Burnett, Owner
Main St. at Dreher Ave. 421-6861

"When a vacancy in judicial office occurred the appropriate judicial nominating commission would submit to the governor three names. He would have 60 days within which to appoint one of the persons named. If he failed to make the appointment from this list within 60 days, the chief justice would have the right to make the appointment from the six names which had been submitted to the governor."

"All judges appointed in this way would serve for two years and then would have an opportunity to run for election for a 10-year term (except that, in the case of community court judges, the Legislature might specify a term of less than 10 years). The judges would not run against other candidates. They would run solely on their own records. The voters would have the right to say 'yes' or 'no' to the election of Judge 'X'. If he were defeated, a vacancy would occur and the vacancy would be filled by appointment as in all other cases."

Maintenance-Free Materials Are Used

The house that requires absolutely no upkeep simply doesn't exist, but this one takes some giant steps in that direction.

Architect Herman H. York, its designer, believes Saturdays are for fishing, not for room painting or floor waxing or other annoying household chores; and his wife firmly agrees. In eight years the Yorks haven't done a single major renovating job on their own home.

His secret is that he used maintenance-free materials wherever it was practical—prefinished hardwoods, plywood and stained wood for walls, assorted varieties of tile for floors and counters.

This sort of decorating actually produces a double benefit. It not only is easy to maintain but usually is far more interesting and decorative.

Today's house of the Week, design J-91 in the series, is an excellent example. It is a spacious three-bedroom ranch designed to make homelife more enjoyable. Of all its maintenance-free materials, tile is the one York stresses. "Because of all the types and patterns available," he says "the owners can use their imagination so their house will reflect their own personality."

In this house York has specified quarry tile flooring of an early tone for the gallery which runs from the covered entry through to the rear terrace, which also is tile. A tile fireplace hearth is raised seat-high and stretches the full 22 foot length of the room.

The flooring also is specified for the kitchen, family room and laundry as well as the two bedrooms and lavatory. Tile mosaics, in addition to tough but attractive wood surfaces, are used on walls which get the roughest treatment.

The house layout also is distinguished for its ease of movement between areas. It contains 1,939 square feet of living area in over-all dimensions of 74 feet four inches wide by 45 feet deep.

THE Veterans Administration reports that veterans have proved to be extraordinarily fine credit risks.

A real eye catcher in this house is the family room, one wall of which forms a semi-circular bay extending out to the rear. At the mid-point of the arc York has placed a glamorous indoor pool—an optional feature, but an exciting one.

The architect suggests a continuous pattern for the floors of the kitchen and family rooms, emphasizing the spaciousness of the two areas.

He says he is aware some people think tile shouldn't be used on kitchen floors because it is too hard, but "In these days of cake mixes, dishwashers and frozen foods, that's no longer true. Housewives don't spend as much time on their feet in the kitchen as they used to; and the ease of upkeep tile offers more than justifies its use."

Another nice optional feature is a cabana arrangement at the rear of the garage. It makes excellent storage space, and can be used as dressing area if you have a backyard swimming pool.

The luxurious bath adjoining the master bedroom features a sunken tub with a seat. Both the bath and walk-in closet are entered through a dressing area, which leaves the entire room free for furniture arranging. And note that the bedroom has its own entrance to the rear terrace.

The exterior of the house is sleek and uncluttered with wide overhangs, vertical board siding and a plain hip roof. Its styling is modified contemporary. Accents of brick and some ceramic tile provide additional glamour.

J-91 Statistics

A three-bedroom one-story house containing living room, dining room, family room, kitchen, main floor laundry, full basement, 2 1/2 baths, attached garage, covered entry. Contains 1,939 square feet of living area, not counting 394-square-foot garage, in over-all dimensions of 74 feet four inches wide by 45 feet deep.

FHA Asks Insulation In Homes

Air-conditioned homes on display during National Home Week this year will be better designed for both comfort and economy if the builder has met minimum FHA requirements.

A new requirement of the Federal Housing Administration now spells out minimum standards for insulation of homes equipped with central air conditioning. Previous insulation requirements were based on heating needs alone. The new requirements were adopted, FHA explains, because of the increasing volume of air conditioning installations.

FHA is quick to point out that its Minimum Property Standards are just that—minimum. As a result, FHA encourages home buyers and builders to exceed its minimums when quality construction lowers the cost of keeping the house up and living in it.

For example, by exceeding FHA minimum insulating requirements, home owners can cut cooling and heating costs substantially and enjoy greater year-round comfort. In addition, since smaller, less costly heating and cooling equipment is required, the total cost of a well insulated house may actually be lower than that of a house with minimum insulation.

A reliable guide to proper insulation of an air-conditioned house is the National Mineral Wool Insulation Association's Quality Home Requirements. These call for mineral wool with installed resistances to summer heat gain or winter heat loss of R-19 or R-21 in ceilings, R-11 in walls, and R-13 in floors over unheated spaces.

Parachutists Featured At Carbon Fair

LEIGHTON — For the second consecutive year, the Carbon County Fair is featuring a special added attraction; this year it is the U.S. Army Parachute Team. Daily at 6 p.m. and Saturday at 2 and 6 p.m., the world famous Army Team will demonstrate free-fall parachuting above the fair grounds at Leighton.

Nicknamed the Golden Knights, the Team thrilled thousands at the Fair last year with their aerial acrobatics and leaps from 14,000 feet. The seven jumpers will ride their Army Otter Aircraft to an altitude of almost three miles daily before leaping out in free fall. After a minute and twenty seconds, they will pull their ripcords and open their colorful black and gold parachutes at 1,500 feet.

Led by 1st Lt. Charles Mullins, the Golden Knights will stage their thirty minute show landing in the horse show rink at the grandstand. Opening their show daily will be SFC Al Barker of Mendota, Virginia, who will do the "Cutaway", the event where his parachute fails and he cuts it away before opening a second chute.

Second on the program will be Lt. Mullins and SFC Harold Lewis who will alternate with a baton pass and a max track. The max track features jumpers gliding as far apart as possible before opening their chutes. Last year the two jumpers got as far apart as five miles before opening.

The climax of the show will be a four-man formation fall led by Sgt. Jim Lewis. With two wing men, Sgt. Cliff Roberts and Sgt. Walt Morgan and a slot man, Cpl. Len Allsop, the Formation Team will perform precision "flying", aerial maneuvers, and a final bomb burst.

In order to enable spectators to watch the show, the jumpers wear red smoke bombs on their heels that leave spectacular criss-crossing red trails as they fall earthwards at speeds up to 200 MPH.

Probe Of Natural Science By Specialists In Four Fields

Lehigh Research Team Finishes Tocks Study

Editor's Note: Research was directed by Lehigh University for National Park Service of the U.S. Department of Interior in the first proposed recreation area of national significance in eastern United States. University will next conduct historical data research in the area, which spans the Delaware River for 35 miles between Delaware Water Gap, Pa., to Port Jervis, N. Y. Area is within 100 miles radius of 15 per cent of nation's population.

BETHLEHEM — It was announced yesterday at Lehigh University that a research team of scientists, directed by the University's Institute of Research, has completed for the National Park Service of the U.S. Department of Interior a natural science survey of more than 72,000 acres of land in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The huge area involved stretches 35-miles among the Delaware River in both Pennsylvania and New Jersey between Delaware Water Gap, Pa., to Port Jervis, N. Y., and makes up the proposed Tocks Island federal project.

The announcement of the completion of the natural science study was made by Prof. George R. Jenkins, director of the Institute at Lehigh. He also announced that Lehigh personnel will next conduct a 15-month study of the history of the same area from the time of the American Indians to the present.

In Conjunction
The recently completed Lehigh study, which was conducted by specialists in botany, geology, zoology and forestry, was made in conjunction with the proposed Tocks Island National Recreation Area, currently under consideration by Congress.

The Recreation Area would be the first national project of its kind and significance in the eastern United States.

It was first proposed in the Delaware River Basin Report by the U.S. Army Engineer District, Philadelphia, as a desirable utilization of the waters to be impounded in the Tocks Island Reservoir, which is located within a 100-mile radius of some 30,000,000 people, 15 per cent of the nation's population.

The multi-purpose Tocks Island water resources development project has been proposed to provide supplies of water, flood control, production of hydroelectric power, and for recreation uses at an estimated total cost of $177,000,000.

The projected site for the construction of the dam in the proposed area is about 7 miles north-east of Stroudsburg, Pa. It is projected that the related recreation uses of the adjacent land and resultant reservoir would attract some 7,000,000 visitors to the area annually.

The next research of the area to be directed by Lehigh University will be the compilation and organization of historical data of the proposed area for the National Park Service.

The new 15 month project, which will be directed by Dr. John H. Cary, professor and head of the department of history at Lehigh, will concentrate on the history of the area from the time of the American Indians to the present. Assistance on the project will be provided by other members of the Lehigh staff.

Major Purpose
The three major purposes of the total research program at Lehigh to date for the National Park Service are (1) background for planning utilization of the natural phenomena of the area, (2) background for future interpretation of unusual features of the area, and (3) provisions for a continuing relationship between the educational and scientific community and the Recreation Area.

Ronald F. Lee, regional director of the Northeast Region, Philadelphia, Pa., of the National Park, said, "the study by Lehigh University is a very able and important contribution to the knowledge of the area's natural resources and will contribute to the development of a sound use and management plan to assure the broadest possible continuous recreation and conservation benefits from the area's resources."

In addition to Professor Jenkins, the following faculty and staff members of the University served on the research project: Dr. Basil W. Parker, professor and head of the department of biology; Dr. J. Donald Ryan, professor and head of the department of geology; Dr. Francis J. Trembley, professor of ecology; Dr. Bradford Willard, professor emeritus of geology; Dr. Paul B. Myers, Jr., assistant professor of geology; John W. Whitehouse, visiting professor of aquatic biology; Byron H. Knapp, graduate assistant in biology, and J. Stewart Nagle, graduate assistant in geology.

Also Participated
Others participating in the project included Dr. Richard E. Myers, professor of geology at Moravian College, Dr. H. A. Wahl, Pennsylvania State University; James M. Francis, Jr., Allentown, consulting forester; and the late Harvey R. Frantz, Bethlehem, who served as a planning advisor. In addition, the collections of the University of Pennsylvania Herbarium were made available by Dr. John M. Fogg.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

If I were to write my own Almanac, I'd have some verses to add to the popular seasonal ones like: "When the days begin to lengthen, then the cold begins to strengthen." My nominations might include: "When the dance comes early on, then the calendar gets a whirly on." Or "When the leaves begin to fall, the hostess chairmen begin to call."

Each passing week, the calendar of events waxeth fatter, as one by one, the clubs, lodges, Sunday school classes, service organizations and bridge clubs resume their regular schedules. When people from the city ask "What is there to do in the sticks?," I groan. The question here seems to be "Where can I find the time to do half the things I'm supposed to do?"

Which doesn't mean that there may not be some newcomers to the community who haven't been invited to join a single thing, not even a neighborhood car pool. This might be a good time to explain that, unless they are extraordinarily outgoing or their husbands are working in a closely-knit organization, this is a sad but normal situation for these parts.

We wait. We wait until the next door neighbor waves before we wave at her. We wait until we've seen people in our church four weeks straight before we make inquiries about who they are. We wait for them to make the first move.

But the funny thing is, that once they've shown the slightest interest and initiative, there we are being friendly as anything. So fair warning: if there is a group that sounds as if you'd enjoy belonging to it, call anyone whose name you are connected with and tell them.

The easiest ones in the world to join are the prestige federated clubs. Some of them are limited by their own announced purposes: the DAR by a Revolutionary ancestor; the AAUW by a college degree; the BPWC or Sororists by the fact that the members work or have worked for money; the political clubs by the political affiliation of their members.

Within those obvious limitations, however, they welcome members enthusiastically. Women's Clubs aren't bound by any restrictions except the Junior Women's Club, whose members must be under 35.

You don't have to be either a parent or a teacher to join a PTA, or have so much as a white mouse to join the SECA, or remember a single historical date to join the Historical Society, Dutch Treat, Community Concerts, Red Cross Service, charity drives of all sorts would welcome you with open arms.

Of course, it might be a good idea if you could carry a tune, but even if you just like to sing anyway, the choruses and church choirs will fit you in somewhere between two strong singers.

But don't be hurt if you aren't invited. The kindest interpretation I can put on our behavior in this respect is that we're like wall-flowers at a dance, just dying to be asked but too proud or shy to wink.

Legion Aux. Monday

Barrett — The Evans Blitt Aux. will meet Monday night at 8 at the home of Mrs. Ben Varvel to discuss plans for the annual dinner and installation of officers.

INTERLACED BASKET WEAVE design is featured in the flowing serpentine-curved draw fronts, and crisp vertical pulls. These wall pieces, combined with a screen, make a practical wall-divider, and finished in suede-like Saddle-tone birch, create decorative interest. An airy, off-the-floor feeling is achieved by the leg treatment.

BRIGHTENING A CORNER are these brushed, antiqued white, trimmed-in-gold, wrap-around units. Part of a French Provincial bedroom collection, this group features, in addition to the desk, a dressing table with pull-out mirror. All tops are of plastic and the hardware is finished in matching antiqued white.

A Five-Day Cure For Those 'I'll Wait' Ditherings

By Roberta Fleming Roesch

"I'll wait!" the woman across from us said when she discussed jobs with us. "Naturally, after spending all this time talking to you I don't want you to think for one moment that I'm not really going to get into something new and stimulating this fall," she went on. "But just for a little while longer I think I'd like to wait."

Familiar Words
"Just for a little while longer I think I'd like to wait!" How often everyone of us has heard ourselves back with those words because it's so easy to put things off awhile!

The weather should be cooler soon—and then we'll have more pep. The children will be older—and maybe we'll have more time. The crisis may get over—and we'll be problem-free.

Never Happens
But the trouble with the waiting game is the fact that these things don't occur. And while we hope to have more time, we too often lose our turn.

So take your turn before it's too late (and to launch the beginning of fall), treat yourself to this Five-Day Plan as an antidote for "I'll Wait" and a preparation to help you start out on something stimulating and new in the way of (1) a first job (2) more progress in your present job (3) an interesting avocation (4) some worthwhile volunteer work.

Pick A Goal
First Day: Decide on the new thing you want to cut your teeth on for the rest of this year. Then begin—today—approaching it with a singleness of purpose.

Second Day: Make your first active move toward that purpose. And, if it's hard work and a hard move, that's good! In the long run, hard work seldom hurts any of us so never be afraid of it.

Manufacturers Sneaking Up On Sneakers

Sneakers have taken such a foothold that everybody is busy trying to create a better one. When podiatrists complained that certain rubber shoes were not good for the feet, leather sneakers were made. Now sneakers have more competition from wool. The sheep's contribution to the sneaker business is made in a rich assortment of wool checks, plaids, and herringbones, coordinated to match wool skirts made by sportswear manufacturers.

WSCS Bake Sale

Bushkill — The Woman's Society of Christian Service is holding a bake sale in front of Turn's Store on Saturday, starting at 10:30 a.m.

Third Day: Reach out to some new personal contact. You help yourself grow for your purpose every time you do this, because one of the really wonderful ways to grow and improve in this world is through meeting individual people who stimulate you and from whom you can learn.

Don't Give Up
Fourth Day: Refuse to give in to a possible passing attack of the old "I'll Wait."

Today, at this point, the "something new and stimulating" may be starting to look a little hard and doing nothing about it may seem easier after all.

For instance, you may be

Instead Of Hesitating, Jump In And Get Your Feet Wet

thinking about mistakes you could make.

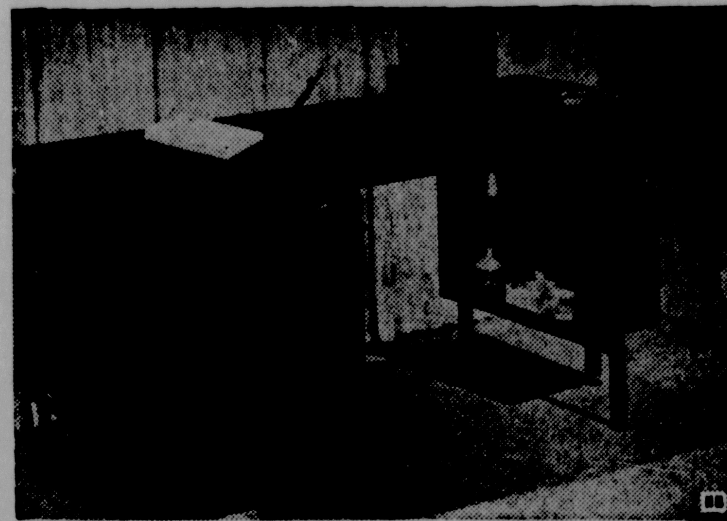

But shut your mind to all of this and stick to your resolves. Even if you do make some mistakes you'll learn from them.

Keep Searching
Fifth Day: From this day forward, as you take your antidotes to "I'll Wait," make each day a renewal of looking for the ways and means to do the something new and stimulating you want to do this fall. You'll find that as you really hunt for the means, your mind will develop the way!

MAXIMUM ELBOW AND STORAGE ROOM is provided in this desk from the Champion Series. Made of oiled walnut, it comes with a wood or plastic top and with black metal legs and drawer handles. The outstanding feature is the storage cabinet with adjustable shelf set on a tripod base. The unit can be installed facing the inside or the outside of the desk.

Homework May Be Better With A Corner Of His Own

Whenever the Parent Teachers Assn. of Monroe County schedule programs on "Homework," guidance counselors and teachers emphasize that parents can best help by providing the time, free from outside distractions, and a place where doing that homework is convenient.

Outside advice isn't much help when it comes to scheduling a family's time. If the toddler wants to watch Huckleberry Hound just when Junior is trying to do his arithmetic; or Dad comes home from work looking forward to watching the ball game just when the high school senior wants to concentrate on higher mathematics; or Little Sister has to practice the piano when Big Sister has to listen to music appreciation records, something's got to give or else everybody gets a sound-proofed room.

However, it does help if everyone does have a corner of his own. The efficiency of a work area depends on how well it is organized. All materials needed should be within easy reach—dictionary, text books, pencil, papers—oh yes, and the assignment book. An informal and personal survey reveals that more time is spent on the telephone checking with best friends on assignments than generally is needed to complete the work involved.

Work necessities include a desk with ample drawer space, preferably with a mar-resistant finish, a comfortable chair scaled to the proportions of the user and a good lamp. At least one other storage piece is helpful, and if space is limited a hanging wall cabinet can serve the purpose attractively.

A small bookcase or shelf will add to the convenience of the work area as will small items like a pencil sharpener and a waste basket. If the bedrooms are large enough they provide much more privacy than the family room which in these days is often dominated by the television schedule. The days when the dining room table was the place where everybody did their paper work around a single lamp have vanished with the dining room itself in many homes.

A bright colorful decor is conducive to good work, and any task is easier in a well-organized and attractive atmosphere. Beyond that, it's up to the student, but authorities all agree that the time to start good study habits is now.

Training Caravan To Brief Girl Scout Volunteers

Scranton—Special caravans for training Girl Scout leaders in the new design in Girl Scouting will visit Monroe County during the week of Sept. 9. The caravan, staffed by professional trainers of the Scranton-Pocono Girl Scout Council, will visit each district to bring the training to the doorsteps of the volunteers.

Troop leaders throughout the area will be given detailed information about the changes which will affect the entire Girl Scout population of the U. S. A. When the change in the Scouting program goes into effect across the nation.

Board members, committee members, leaders and other Girl Scout volunteers must be specially trained in the fundamentals of the new design before they begin to work with the troops this fall.

The sessions will run from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. with a lunch break from 12 to 1. The training day will open with a session on the general outline of the program. Later these attending will be divided into groups according to the age-level of their troops. Each person is to bring a nose-bag lunch, including beverage.

Handbooks and Leaders' Guides will be on sale at the training session. Each leader is asked to have at least one copy of the Leaders Guide and a Handbook for the troop library.

The caravan will visit the districts as follows: Sept. 9, District V, Presbyterian Church, Stroudsburg; Sept. 10, District I, Trinity Congregational, Scranton; Sept. 11, District III, YMCA, Carbonale; Sept. 12, District II, Westminster Presbyterian, Scranton;

Let's talk Fashion

There's an addition to our store family — a new manikin we haven't quite had the courage to name yet. We're a little in awe of her. She's so tall, so impeccably groomed and wears her clothes as if she would be a patron at the Symphony concert, in a box at the horse show, at the captain's table on a cruise.

We've been trying to decide which of our customers she reminds us of most—and have come to the conclusion that in her taste in clothes she resembles a lot of you: elegant simplicity with a difference.

The difference between a butter-soft leather coat or jacket by Bonnie Cashin or just any old leather coat. The difference between the bold, antiqued, for-real look of a pin by Van S. Authentics and a nondescript pin. The difference between our black corduroy skirt with leather pockets and a surprise lining of red calico, and just any wrap-around.

The difference between carrying a handbag just to hold the necessary junk a woman has to lug around; and a handbag that sets its mark of distinction on any costume, handbags in maple or antique walnut, in avocado or chocolate brown leathers.

Anyway, we're enjoying assembling costumes which enable her to play the part she was obviously destined for. Come to think of it, we enjoy the same thing for you, too.

Froehling Saves U.S. Prestige

Ralston Finished By Brazil's Giant Killer

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—Rommie Barnes, a little giant-killer from Brazil, upset third-seeded Dennis Ralston 6-4, 7-5, 6-3 but saved America's prestige with a comeback 6-8, 4-6, 6-3, 9-7 victory over England's Bobby Wilson Thursday in the quarter-finals of the National Tennis Championships.

Barnes and Froehling are matched in the semifinals Saturday with the other pairing to be determined by the remaining two quarter-final tests today.

In these, top-seeded Chuck McKinley of San Antonio, Tex., faces the second of Brazil's surprising form wreckers, 18-year-old Thomas Koch, while Martin Riessen of Evanston, Ill., goes against fourth-seeded Rafael Osuna of Mexico.

Ralston's defeat was the second stunning setback to prime favorites in 24 hours at the chilled West Side Tennis Club, Froehling eliminated second-seeded Roy Emerson Wednesday, riding the men's field of Australians for the first time since 1950 at such an early stage.

Ralston, the angry young man from Bakersfield, Calif., has been rated America's brightest new tennis hope.

Defending champion Margaret Smith of Australia and little Deidre Catt of England went into the women's semifinals, Miss Catt without swinging a racket.

Miss Catt's quarter-final opponent, Mrs. Yola Ramirez Ochoa of Mexico, suffered a sprained wrist in a practice session Thursday and was forced to default.

Miss Smith, holder of the Australian and French titles, shook off an early case of wildness and rallied for a 3-6, 6-2, 6-2 triumph over the 6-foot Christine Truman of England.

In the other half of the women's quarter-finals Friday second-seeded Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., who won this title in 1960 and 1961, goes against an old rival, left-handed Mrs. Ann Haydon Jones of England and Maria Bueno of Brazil, 1959 champion, faces Nancy Richey of Dallas.

Miss Bueno, showing signs of regaining the form that made her the best in the world in 1959, was seeded No. 4. Miss Richey is No. 5 and Mrs. Jones No. 6.

All semifinal matches are scheduled Saturday, with the finals Sunday.

Yanks Win In 12th On Lopez's Single

NEW YORK (AP)—Hector Lopez puffed a hit to right field in the 12th inning to score Clete Boyer with the winning run Thursday in a 3-2 victory for the New York Yankees over the Washington Senators.

It marked the sixth time this season that Lopez had driven in the winning run in the last inning. The Yankees, cake-walking to the American League pennant, now have a 10-4 record in extra innings.

Games and are 33-13 in one run games.

The victory reduced the magic number over Minnesota to 10 games.

Giants Bow To Houston; Chisox, Tigers Triumph

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bob Aspromonte, who scored the tying run after doubling in the ninth, blasted a three-run 10th inning homer and paced the Houston Oilers to a 5-2 victory over San Francisco Thursday.

Aspromonte forced the game into extra innings when he stroked a one-out double off starter and loser Bob Bolin in the ninth and romped home on a single by Bob Lillis.

Don Larsen came on in relief for San Francisco at that point and Aspromonte smashed his first pitch over the left centerfield fence, his third hit of the game.

Willie McCovey got one back for the Giants with his 38th homer leading off the 10th.

Coe, Harris Spark Amateur Golfers

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—The United States' army of experienced amateur golfers squeezed to a narrow 1½-point margin in the first half of the biennial Americas Cup competition Thursday behind the steady shottaking of Charlie Coe and Labron Harris Jr.

The Yanks, never beaten in six previous Cup encounters with hemisphere neighbors, had a two-point edge after the morning six-omes and appeared headed for a virtual rout in early afternoon during the singles matches.

But the United States stayed ahead at the end of the day only because Coe, from Oklahoma City and twice the amateur champion, brought an abrupt halt to the unbeaten record of Canada's Gary Cowan.

Coe beat Cowan 4 and 2 for the Canadians' first defeat in 13 Americas' Cup singles encounters. Seconds later, Cowan also was defeated by Juan Estrada of Mexico 1 up.

At the end of the day's nine matches, the United States had 12½ points, Canada 11 and Mexico 3½.

The three-way duels are being played over the hilly 6,800 yards of the Walden Club course where par is 36-36-72.

Harris, the current U. S. amateur champion and a graduate student of mathematics at Oklahoma State, halved his singles encounter with Nick Weslock, Canadian amateur king, and defeated Luis Brauer of the Mexican forces.

Tamiment-in-the-Poconos again will be the site this year of the Danny Kaye annual invitation golf tournament and the feature attraction of the three-day event Sept. 24-26 will be the defending champion U. S. Air Force team from Andrews Air Force Base of Washington, D. C.

Pro George Pigott will have two members of last year's title winning team in this fifth annual affair with Maj. Bob Graham and Maj. Jack Stutz. He has strengthened his team with the addition of Col. Frank Morris, a 4-handicap player.

Maj. Graham stole the spotlight in last year's event when he outscored pros and amateurs in the better ball of foursome 18-hole championship team by posting an even par 72 during a driving rain storm. Few pros score as well on the 7,110-yard championship course on a good day. None have ever bettered par-72, playing from the back tees, and some mighty fine professional golfers have tried it!

Also back for this year's tournament is the Hempstead (L. I.) Golf Club team which last year won eight of nine matches while touring Europe. The only loss came at the hands of a select team in Scotland, comprised of Scottish and English players. Because of the tour, the Hempstead team missed the Kaye tournament last year, but this club is regarded as the toughest competitors for the Air Force squad this year. Clark Grey, Ora Curry and Milt Hendrickson who toured through Europe with Roy Jones will play at Tamiment in this month's golf attraction in the Poconos.

Jones, on his European trip, has been praising the Tamiment course which he rates "as fine as any" he played in Europe and also states it is "definitely one of the better courses in the United States."

In a letter to Mike Devitt, director of the Kaye tourney, Jones said, "We enjoyed our European tour immensely, but have found out you don't have to leave the U. S. to find good golf courses. I'd rate Tamiment as good—if not better—than most courses we've played on, and our team is looking forward to the Danny Kaye event this month."

Jones also proved a good-will ambassador for the Poconos in general. "I've been extolling the greatness of the Tamiment course and the beauty of the Poconos to everyone I met on the tour. Many clubs are interested in sending teams to play in the Kaye tournament anytime you want to extend it to a big international competition," he penned.

There will be more than just top-flight amateur and pro golfers in this year's field. Billie Booe, former Yale quarterback and now pro at the Country Club of Northampton, is entered this year. One of the amateur players on the Bala Golf Club team will be Douglas Adam, former pro league ice hockey star and former coach of the Philadelphia Ramblers. Doug is no mean golfer, either. He sports a 2-handicap in the Philadelphia District.

Also participating in this year's event will be Country Club of Scranton and Wyoming Valley C. C. of Wilkes-Barre.

Green Valley C. C. of Lafayette Hills, winner of the 1960 Kaye tournament, and Mt. View C. C. of West Trenton, N. J., winner of the 1961 crown, will be among the clubs after the title this year.

Bill Schoonover, former Stroud Union grid great, is one of two backfield question marks for Syracuse University coach Ben Schwartzwalder this year.

The veteran Orange mentor has an established quarter-back-fullback combination of Walley Mahle and Jim Nance. But Bill and Junior Mike Koski, two talented athletes who were starters for part of the 1962 campaign, must prove themselves once again.

"Schoonie," a 200-pounder whose speed belies his weight, opened the '63 season as the No. 1 left half and was SU's most productive back early in the campaign. He was shifted to fullback after two games but then ran into a series of injuries.

Over the course of the final six games on the card, Schoonover saw very limited service.

Shortly after the start of spring practice last April, Bill withdrew from school. However, he returned to summer school and regained his football eligibility. Moreover, the hard-hitting veteran has been impressive in early drills this fall, according to the Syracuse athletic office.

The Amish farmers from Lancaster County, outstanding harness horse breeders, will be the feature attraction at the Pocono Mountains Harness Horsemen training track on Rt. 611, three miles north of Stroudsburg, on Saturday at 2 p. m. There will be no admission charge for the event.

Pocono Regatta Readied

POCONO PINES — One of the largest sailboat regattas in the history of Pocono area sailing will be held this weekend at Naomi Lake, Pocono Pines, Pa.

About 60 Duster Class racing sailboats will compete for top honors in the 10th Annual Naomi Lake Regatta. This is the largest number of boats ever assembled for a Duster Invitational race.

Skippers expected to compete include the 1963 National Champion, Bob Lippincott of Riverton, N. J.; 1962 champ Shep Peck of Pines Lake, N. J.; and 1960-61 champ Charles Stadler of Union Lake, N. J.

Lippincott won the National Duster Championship two weeks ago at Swartswood Lake, N. J., capturing two firsts in three races.

This weekend's regatta will be the final sanctioned Duster Regatta of the year. Two races will be held on Saturday, and the final race will be Sunday.

CHARLES (Chuck) Medlar, who assisted retiring coach Joe Bedenk for the last 14 years, is now head baseball coach at Penn State.

Hulsizer Sums Up Squad

Pleasant Valley Success Depends On Hustle, Speed

By KEN O'BRIEN
Daily Record Sports Editor

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sonny Jurgensen, star passer of the Philadelphia Eagles, and his lone substitute, King Hill, settled their salary dispute with the club Thursday in a bitter negotiating session.

Jurgensen and Hill walked out of the Eagles' Hershey, Pa., training camp Wednesday and said they wouldn't return until they had signed contracts. Later, Vince McNally, general manager of the Eagles reached the pair by telephone and arranged a meeting in the club office here.

New Adjustments?
The bitter aftermath could lead to a breakdown of team morale as well as some adjustments in National Football League contract regulations.

The quarterbacks said they left camp because McNally refused to sit down and work out their 1963 contracts. Unlike major league baseball clubs, NFL players can train with their teams without signed contracts. They must, however, be signed before opening day.

Jurgensen, insisting the players were behind him and Hill, said he didn't think the incident would affect team morale. He also said they did not represent the other four players in camp still unsigned—offensive backs Clarence Peaks and Theron Sapp and defensive backs Jimmy Carr and Ben Scott.

More Money
Asked whether he got an increase over the reported $26,000 he earned last year, Jurgensen said, "Yes, we both got what we wanted."

Hill, who was fighting a cut in his reported $18,000 contract of 1962, said also that he was satisfied.

The Jurgensen-Hill incident could prompt the owners to revise the rule allowing unsigned players to participate in pre-season training. That same owners were increased was evidenced by two reported offers from other teams to send the Eagles quarterbacks as replacements.

Opens Season

EAST STROUDSBURG — The Commercial "C" Bowling League opens its season at Harmon's Recreation tonight starting at 9 o'clock.

GEORGE Sauer, a veteran of 13 years of coaching college teams, is director of player personnel for the New York Jets of the American Football League.

BRODHEADSVILLE—Hustle and speed combined with a step-up passing game is the football formula coach Wayne Hulsizer will utilize this season as he directs the Pleasant Valley High School squad through its first full campaign of varsity competition.

"We've got to gamble on our speed," says Wayne who has coached this team since its inception three years ago.

"One thing that will help us," he continued, "is that we've got everybody back. But they have to realize they're no longer playing in the minor leagues—they're in the majors now."

The Bears have been playing a junior varsity schedule the past three seasons.

"Hustle And Speed"
"We're small," says Wayne, "so we've got to depend on hustle and speed to do the job for us."

"We hope to throw the ball more this year," he added, hoping that "our passing attack will open up our running game to keep the defense honest which we didn't do last year."

Hulsizer plans to use the same offensive formation he inaugurated last year—the wing-T. "We started it last year and had pretty good success with it," he said.

Co-Captains
A pair of linemen will be the co-captains of the Bears. They are guard Don Dorsheimer and end Kenny Bowman.

The backfield is pretty well set with Lambert Murphy at quarterback, sophomore twins Dale and Delbert Kibler at the halfback posts, and Lou Herfurth at fullback.

Senior John Kresge also is fighting for a starting halfback berth and Hulsizer says "he looks pretty good."

At the ends, Bowman and Rick Everett appear to be the likely starters but Barry Mackes also is regarded as a prime candidate. "They all look real good," exclaims Hulsizer.

Other Prospects
Barry Shupp, Roger Berger and Ed Kozlowski are battling it out for the tackle slots. Dorsheimer, Ken Zacharias and Dave Bonser are the top prospects for the guard positions. At center, Terry Kleintop, a converted end, is providing a stiff battle for Danny Andrews who held that post last year.

Opening the season Sept. 14 against Palmerton, Pleasant Valley faces a rugged seven-game schedule. They'll play their only game under the lights against Pius X of Roseto at Bangor Stadium.

The schedule:
Sept. 14—Palmerton (A).
Sept. 27—Pius X (A)—at Bangor, night.
Oct. 12—Summit Hill (A).
Oct. 26—Minisink Valley (H).
Nov. 9—Jim Thorpe (H).
Nov. 16—Coaldale (A).
Nov. 23—Pocono Mountain (H).

Labor Dispute Slows Down Pocono Downs Construction

WILKES-BARRE — Victor Diehm, president of Pocono Downs Racing Assn., said yesterday that construction of its harness racing track has been slowed by a jurisdictional dispute between the AFL-CIO and United Mine Workers local 50.

"While the labor dispute will put a serious crimp in our construction plans," Diehm said, "every effort will be made to have the track built in time for the 1964 harness racing season."

Racing Income Not High As Expected

HARRISBURG (AP) — New figures indicated still more emphatically Thursday that the state's advance estimate of revenues from harness racing was on the conservative side.

The first 100 days of racing at two tracks produced $2,121,050.97, the Revenue Department reported. This compared with preliminary estimates of $2,513,500 as the state's take for the full fiscal year.

With 50 days of racing still remaining at Philadelphia's Liberty Bell Track, it appeared the state's estimate would be considerably short of actual returns.

The total income so far included $1,796,056.25 as the state's share of wages, $280,850.63 from its share of the breakage (odd cents not distributed to winning ticket holders) and $4,144.08 from admissions taxes.

Better than two-thirds of the revenue came from the 50-day meet at Liberty Bell. The department reported receipts of $1,276,022.45 from wagers, $302,135.08 from breakage and $29,012.25 from admissions.

At the 50-day meeting at the Meadows in Washington County, the state realized $30,033.80 from wagering, $78,715.54 from breakage, and $15,131.84 from admissions.

The state also will get the money due holders of uncashed winning tickets from the 150 days of racing. However, the holders have until next April 1 to cash their tickets.

the track apron has been enlarged to accommodate more than 20,000 patrons.

The track will have a 50-day racing season and hopes to attract many people from the Pocono Mountains area.

Diehm declared every effort will be made to resolve the labor dispute and that his organization has no plans to construct any facilities without the consent of organized labor.

Economic Boom
He added that construction of the track is of great importance to the people of northeastern Pennsylvania.

"The building of a harness track in the area will be a boon to the local economy," he predicted.

Decision to expand the facilities, he disclosed, came following a close study of the success this year of the Liberty Bell and Washington Meadows tracks which were opened under the Pennsylvania harness racing program.

Track officials are still awaiting clearance of a $4,375,000 investment issue now being reviewed by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Sell Equities
Under the proposed "package" issue, Pocono Downs will sell equities in the track through the marketing of 25,000 units. Each unit will consist of one $100-4½ per cent debenture bond, 15 shares of common stock at $5 per share, and 10 warrants for additional stock shares.

WHEN DO YOU PASS A SCHOOL BUS?

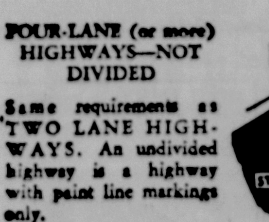

TWO-OR THREE-LANE HIGHWAYS
When a school bus has stopped, either on the highway or on the shoulder adjacent to the highway, with flashing signals, to load or unload children, ALL traffic must stop. Stop must be made not less than 10 feet from the stationary school bus.

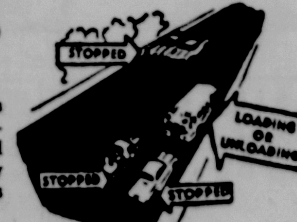

SCHOOL FAR-SIDE

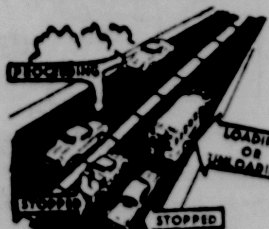

If a school bus is stopped on the opposite side of a street or highway (with flashing signal) from a school building, loading or unloading children, traffic moving in both directions must stop at least 10 feet from the school bus.

FOUR-LANE (or more) HIGHWAYS—NOT DIVIDED
Same requirements as TWO LANE HIGHWAYS. An undivided highway is a highway with paint line markings only.

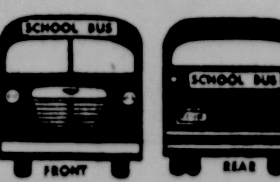

FOUR-LANE (or more) HIGHWAYS—DIVIDED

A divided highway is one with something other than a painted line separating opposing traffic lanes. On a highway of this type, motorists on the same side of the divider and traveling in the same direction as the bus, are required to stop when the bus is loading or unloading children. The bus may be stopped on the highway or on the shoulder adjacent to the highway with flashing signals. Traffic proceeding in the opposite direction, on the other side of the divider, may proceed at a speed not exceeding 15 miles per hour.

PUBLIC UTILITY COMMISSION LICENSED BUSES

Section 840 of the Vehicle Code authorizes buses licensed by the Public Utility Commission (buses that are used for other than exclusively transporting school children) to be used on a school bus basis, provided they are properly identified.

The PUC buses are required to carry a sign front and rear indicating they are being used as a school bus. They are NOT required to display a flashing red signal, nor be painted chrome yellow. Since these PUC buses cannot be identified by color or flashing signals, it is important that the motorist be extra careful to avoid not recognizing them as school buses.

PENALTIES

Under the Pennsylvania Schedule of Suspensions and Revocations, the penalties that apply for illegally passing a school bus while loading or unloading (Sect. 1018) are:

First Offense—One (1) month
Second Offense—Two (2) months
Third Offense—Three (3) months
Fourth Offense—Four (4) months
Fifth Offense—Six (6) months
Sixth Offense—Eight (8) months
(Violations remain as part of an operator's record for three years).

Points On 'Twisting'

By William A. Doyle

Q. I was interested to see you use the word "twisting" in answer to a reader who said that he had been advised to cash in his ordinary life insurance policy, replace it with term insurance on which he would pay lower premiums and apply the savings toward buying mutual fund shares.

Wrote that indiscriminate twisting is "frowned upon by regulatory agencies." But you never came right out and said when a move is right and when it is wrong. Why? A. Because there are no hard-and-fast guide lines on this very touchy subject.

Even that simple statement is bound to bring in some strong letters from people with mighty firm opinions on this. And there are opposing points of view on this.

Many people in the insurance business take the firm stand that it is always dead wrong to give

Sterling Drug Acquires Firm

The agreement calls for Whitmoyer shareholders to receive one share of Sterling common stock for 1.75 shares of Whitmoyer stock.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Friday, September 6, 1963

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Don't jump to quick conclusions. Even where long-standing changes are due, do not make them impulsively. Best efforts could be rewarded, but only if you avoid premature action.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Review to observe whether you are using wrong methods or are not employing your talents in the most effective manner. Some burdens should be lightened perceptibly now.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Certain tensions should be lessened now. Do not let pride or disappointment keep you from continued strong, capable effort. Fancies of this sign should never fall prey to disillusionment.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — You may get a lot of yourself and cause some concern if not mindful of possible hazards. Keep things going at a sensible, progressive pace.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — You are luckier than most zodiacal natives now in that you may achieve quicker results for your endeavors. But you will have to apply yourself, and avoid extreme, now but, with your innate stardom and know-how you should be able to take the "ups and downs." Be neither too forceful nor too backward.

August 24 to October 23 (Libra) — A good day in which to display your inventiveness and a general ability. Properly exercised, even your most minor talents and efforts will be appreciated.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — You folks seldom hesitate to take advantage of opportunities but you do have a tendency to procrastinate, also, to do others' chores and neglect your own. Make up your mind not to dilly-dally now and do attend to your own affairs.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — If you organize a good system, and analyze all situations carefully, RICHIE, being you will "have it made." Don't let unexpected conditions cause consternation.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Unusual situations will now call for your top-flight performance. Sudden shifts in circumstances should not deter you from pursuing meaningful goals. Keep plugging. You will win.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Conscientiousness is a must now. Trend is to get things done quickly, but HOW will be up to your individual conscience and effort.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Remember, what is one man's pleasure is another's provocation. The obscure may turn out to be the most significant. So be sure you do deep enough to learn what's what.

YOU BORN TODAY have a rare talent for knowing how to please others, and how to get the most out of what you undertake. You have many abilities, also the wisdom to follow one occupation especially, not scatter energies. VIRTUE, a wholesome love of good fun, companionship, good food and good manners are your delight. You could be a fashion designer, musician, artist, confidential secretary, critic, judge. You like things clean, neat, accurate; may fuss too much, however.

up "permanent" life insurance (which has cash value) and buy lower-cost term insurance. Term insurance, of course, provides protection — pure and simple.

The substitution of term for permanent life insurance is probably the most frequent type of twisting practiced today. But, as a matter of fact, the substitution of any one life insurance policy for another can be called twisting.

Many people who make such a switch put the money saved (in lower life insurance premium costs) into mutual fund shares or other investments. That, of course, gets many insurance people screaming mad.

However, many people in the investment business point out that if the value of the investments made in this manner grow, the people who make such switches come out ahead.

Please understand that I am not trying to duck a hot topic. This column constantly stresses that each family should have insurance and savings before investments.

But how much insurance and what kind? That's something each family must decide — based on each family's financial position. No matter what you may be told, there is no pat formula with which to calculate this.

Q. The column in which you explained the $30,000 "exclusion" and the $3,000 "annuity exemption" from Federal gift taxes was most enlightening. But it leaves one question in my mind. If I make large gifts, do the persons to whom I make the gifts have to pay income taxes on the gifts?

A. No. We're assuming that you are talking about honest-to-goodness gifts. Don't make the mistake of trying to label something as a "gift," if it is really a payment for something.

Here again, I'll repeat that anyone making sizable gifts should consult a good lawyer to make sure he has the ground rules straight.

Q. Can you explain what is meant by a "blue chip" stock? A. In a nutshell, "blue chip" means high-quality. Blue chip is an accolade given to stocks of well-established companies, with good records of earnings and dividends.

However, different people have different ideas about exactly what makes a stock a blue chip. There's no hard-and-fast definition. You might like a certain stock well enough to consider it a blue chip. Someone else might call the same stock a "cat" or a "dog."

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

THE PHANTOM

YOU ALL RIGHT, MISS JANICE? YES BOOBYARD RIGGS, I'LL BE RIGHT DOWN.

GOOLEY SAID HE'S 400 YEARS OLD. WHAT A CRAZY IDEA--

I'M THIRTY-ONE, WHEN I'M THIRTY, HE'LL BE 403.

OH--NONSENSE! GEE--I WONDER IF HE'S MARRIED!

GOOLEY--

THE PHANTOM

I'M SORRY, GENTLEMEN... THERE IS NOTHING MORE I CAN DO FOR YOU!

I THOUGHT I'D MET COLD-BLOODED PEOPLE IN MY FIGHT GAME, BUT YOU'VE GOT ICE IN YOUR VEINS!

IRMA! PLEASE SHOW THEM TO THE DOOR!

WELL, I AIN'T FINISHED YET! I'VE GOT PLENTY MORE T'SAY T'YOU!

C'MON, KNOB... LET'S GO!

THE PHANTOM

WE'VE needed a good Joe like you in the office for a long time—and I'll pay back the ten spot next payday."

BLONDIE

WHY DO YOU GIVE ME THE SAME CEREAL EVERY MORNING? I HATE IT!

BECAUSE THEY GIVE SUCH VALUABLE PREMIUM COUPONS

IF I GET TWENTY MORE COUPONS I GET A KNITTED TELEPHONE-BOOK COVER

WHAT AN INGRATE! I AM TO COMPLAIN ABOUT SUCH A WORTHY CAUSE!

DICK TRACY

THE BODIES ARE MERE CLUMPS OF CINDER.

A RUBBER SHEET IS THE ONLY WAY.

ANYTHING IDENTIFIABLE?

NO, WE'LL HAVE TO SIFT THE ASHES FOR POSSIBLE KEYS AND METAL OBJECTS

OKAY, THEN DIET SMITH AND MYSELF WILL RETURN TO THE MOUNTAIN FOR FURTHER SEARCH.

MAYBE THERE ARE MORE CIVIL WAR RELICS IN THAT RUBBLE," SAYS TRACY.

BETTY BAILEY

WHAT DOPE

WE BUSTED UP WITH THAT DAVE 15 YEARS AGO AND HE'S BEEN STUCK WITH THAT EVER SINCE!

WHEN IT COMES TO TATTOOS, YOU DON'T FOOL AROUND

ARCHIE

BUT, VERONICA, YOUR FATHER SAID HE DIDN'T WANT TO SEE MY FACE AROUND THERE ANY MORE!

IT'S ALL RIGHT, ARCHIE! DADDY WILL BE AWAY TODAY!

DADDY! I THOUGHT YOU HAD LEFT ON YOUR HUNTING TRIP!

MRS. FITZ FLATS

SO WHEN OUR PENSION CHECK COMES I'M GOING TO TAKE THIS MONEY I HAVE STASHED AWAY AND...

SHHH... LINSEED MIGHT HEAR YOU

OH, HE'S ASLEEP!

ARE YOU SURE HE'S NOT PLAYING POSSUM?

I DOUBT IT VERY MUCH

BUZ SAWYER

YOU LOST, JIM, BOY?

YOUR "CRUSADER" SQUADRON READY-ROOM IS THAT-A-WAY!

NOT LOST, SON—JUST THAT YOU "PHANTOM PLYER" GUYS MIGHT LIKE A TIP ON HOW TO MAKE A PROPER CARRIER APPROACH.

TELL US HOW YOU DO IT, JIM!

YOU "CRUSADER" GUYS THINK YOU'RE GOOD EH?

AND WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH OUR SKIPPER?

HERE HE COMES NOW!

HOW'S THAT FOR A PERFECT LANDING?... AND AT NIGHT, TOO!

SURE, SON, ANYBODY IS ENTITLED TO A PERFECT LANDING NOW AND THEN, BUT IF YOU "PHANTOM PLYER" GUYS WANT SOME LESSONS, JUST WHISTLE.

SNUFFY SMITH

PAW!! YE GOT A CUSTOMER DOWN AT TH' STILL HOUSE

CRASH

HOW MUCH DO I OWE YE, SNUFFY?
